

Roller for converting machines

The roller, designed for paper, fabric, and nonwoven converting machines, combines high rigidity with remarkable lightness, resulting in reduced deformation even under the tension of the film running through the system. This ensures high levels of production and quality. Fibercompositi manufactures cylinders for converting, with diameters up to 300 mm and lengths up to 7 m.